

MY V TE MY VOICE

Voting In Elections

PRESENTED BY:  Monitor  the future project

A young man, CHIKE, is sitting in a chair across from an older- looking man, HONORABLE AGBABIKA. There is a bottle of drink on the table and some wads of cash. Behind Hon. Agbabibaka are two goons holding guns. Hon. Agbabibaka stares at Chike..

and hands him the money.

I must win this election.

No worry. Na you go win am!

Chike reaches for the bottle of drink.

Chike retreats.

Chike laughs and reaches for the drink again.

One of the goons cocks a gun and Chike leaves the drink.

He removes an IV from his pocket.

Chike is standing outside his house addressing a crowd.

The crowd jubilates as Chike hands out N1,500.

Make everybody bring their PVC come meet me tomorrow.

Two women, (Nana and Janet) are standing behind the crowd.

This is why I hate voting. Why should I vote when it won't count because of all these people.

That's exactly why you should vote. At the end of the day, it's us against them. If we do nothing, they win.

POLLING BOOTH - DAY

Chike looks on in horror as voters come out to vote for the candidate running against Honourable Chike tries to remind them to vote for Honourable Agbabiaka but they ignore him.

Chike is sound asleep. Someone knocks....

Hon. Agbabiaka enters the room with his goons.

Hon Agbabiaka slaps his head

The goons start to beat Chike.

Hon. Agbabiaka leaves. Janet watches him enter his car.

Chike screams from inside.

I'm going for honeymoon o! Don't beat me too much o.

SAY NO TO ELECTORAL VIOLENCE

SAY NO TO VOTE BUYING

SAY YES TO FREE AND FAIR
ELECTION

YOUR VOTE IS YOUR VOICE

 @Y_Monitor
 @Y_Monitor
 YMonitor.org

 @tfaafrica
 @tfaafrica
 thefutureafrica.com

 Info@thefutureafrica.com
 08022226712